Meet the Speakers ...

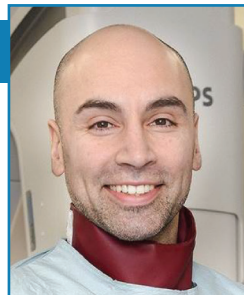

Dr Tarvinder Dhanjal

Dr Tarvinder Dhanjal is a Consultant Cardiologist and Electrophysiologist at the Morriston Cardiac Centre and Spire Hospital Cardiff. He qualified with honours from Birmingham University Medical School in 2000 and rotated through various Glasgow and Birmingham teaching hospitals before returning to University in 2003 to undertake research funded by the British Heart Foundation. He was later awarded a PhD from Birmingham University in 2007. He was also awarded a clinical training and research position at St Thomas' Hospital, London, where he completed his sub-speciality training in heart rhythm treatment (electrophysiology). Towards the end of his training he was awarded a two year advanced electrophysiology fellowship at the renowned Henri Mondor Hospital in Paris and was appointed as a Consultant in 2014.

Dr Tarvinder Dhanjal is trained in all aspects of cardiac arrhythmia management including catheter ablation, in particular ablation therapy for atrial fibrillation, ventricular tachycardia, supraventricular tachycardia and Wolf-Parkinson-White syndrome, pacemaker/defibrillator implantation, cardiac resynchronisation therapy and left atrial appendage occlusion. His specialist interest is ablation of complex arrhythmias especially atrial fibrillation and life-threatening ventricular tachycardia.

He has presented at several national and international conferences and published numerous scientific papers. Additionally, he has received several awards and media recognition for his research and clinical work.

Dr Jim Moore

Dr Moore is a GPSI in heart failure in Cheltenham and a GP.

He maintains an interest in cardiology and cardiovascular disease, particularly those aspects that are relevant to primary care.

He is involved in the development of the primary care based Gloucestershire heart failure service and is also a member of the National Heart Failure Audit Project Board.
